TASTE, THINK, REPEAT

The brand that fits the indispensable flavors into canned food

Modern Technology

Roz is a food production company that continues to grow by meeting its consumers in international markets with its innovative, young and dynamic infrastructure by bringing Anatolian flavors together with modern technology. By producing canned food at international standards in its modern production facilities, Roz provides safe delivery to all over the world with its wide transportation network.

Taste, Think, Repeat

Roz, which has a distinguished place with its experience and quality in the food sector, has left a professional mark for its customers by combining its experience with modern methods. On this road that Roz started with the slogan "Taste, Think, Repeat", Roz has given importance to the loyalty of its consumers and the unchanging understanding of taste, and has included it among its principles.

ORGANIC

While using drug-free raw materials to increase organic consumption, and by not adding any additives during the production phase, Roz has always been supportive for a healthy and sustainable life. Roz has a dynamic research team to provide detailed examination of raw materials in the production area and to provide information about consumer needs. Roz maintains its work sensitively with quality control teams that analyze processes and supervise tests and measurements. By approaching with a contemporary and universal understanding, Roz makes it easier for its customers to have hygienic canned products that are resistant to environmental conditions.

These flavors, collected in their freshest form from the agricultural lands of Anatolia, which has the richest lands in the world, have come together with modern technology and become indispensable for your tables.

ROZ WORLD SAFE FOR YOU!

Certifications

HACCP is a globally accepted food safety standard that ensures food safety against chemical, microbiological and physical risks.

ISO 9001 is defined as the international standard that specifies the requirements for a quality management system (QMS).

Halal certificate is a food and service certificate given to companies that produce or sell in accordance with halal production conditions (hygiene, slaughter, production, presentation, storage, transportation, sales, after-sales).

ISO 45001 Standard is the new Occupational Health and Safety Standard that is being prepared to replace the OHSAS 18001 standard.

The ISO 22000 certificate is an international standard that defines the requirements of a food safety management system covering all institutions in the food chain "from farm to plate".

ISO 14001 is a standard that guides the determination of environmental factors in the process from the raw material to the presentation of the product to the customer and minimizing the damage to the environment by controlling these factors with necessary precautions.
